

HIDDEN DOORS
with creative potential

DOORS FOR PAINTING

Hidden doors - a business card of minimalism. At the production we just ground the slab, leaving the opportunity to decorate doors in one tone with a wall, so that the room would produce a complete impression.

DOORS FOR FINISHING

This option is often used in lofts, where hidden doors are made for concrete. Decorative finish focuses on a brutal texture, and imperceptible loops and mounting details do not distract attention from bright design solutions

DOORS FOR WALLPAPERING

If you have chosen wallpaper for walls with beautiful ornaments, it is not necessary to "break" the picture with a traditional doorway. Hidden doors can be covered with wallpaper as if they are a continuation of the wall. In addition, "secret" doors are often used to solve technical problems, as an addition to the slabs of other collections.

DOORS IN A CONCEALED CASING

Flush-mounted doors can "merge" with walls, decorated like the wood, and act as a contrast to the finishing of others surfaces. All models are presented in several types of veneer of noble breeds, matte and gloss enamels of various shades, as well as wear-resistant synthetic materials. All in order for you to choose the finishes to solve the most delicate interior tasks.

DOOR OPENING

Correctly choosing the direction of opening the hidden door, you will increase the level of comfort and make the interior more ergonomic. For example, the door to a small pantry will for sure open to the outside, and into the large room - inward. And all this with the preservation of coplanar canvases with the wall!

HIGH DOORS IN A CONCEALED CASING

To provide for the installation of hidden doors, it is necessary at the start of the repair, because the box is mounted during the construction phase before the finishing works begin. The cloth is installed at the final repair stage - you will have time to choose the desired finish.

How spectacular, but without too much effort to raise the ceilings? We reveal the secret of decorators: doors up to 3 meters high can perfectly handle this task. The fact is that our view is focused, mainly on vertical lines, which visually increase the height of the ceiling.
